

THE CENTRAL RECORD.

THIRTY SECOND YEAR

LANCASTER, KY., THURSDAY AFTERNOON, APRIL 21, 1921.

NUMBER 3.

THE MITCHEL TAYLOR FARM

In Boyle County Sells To Seven Different Parties For $84,333.41.

An Average Per Acre of $326.84 For The 257.72 Acres.

One of the most successful sales ever made by Swinebroad, the real estate man, in fact we might say the most successful considering the present time and conditions.

A large crowd of 1,500 were present and great interest was manifested. They said Swinebroad would not sell this time. The farm was subdivided into a number of tracts, and by selling some tracts separately and bunching them in different ways, Swinebroad handled the tracts of land in a number of different ways which could only be done by one who is past master of the art, and it was all done to the satisfaction of the bidders and the owner.

The land sold from $207.50 per acre to $630.00 per acre, some with improvements brought over $1,700 per acre.

J. H. Epperson purchased tract No. 20—65.11 acres at $225.00 per acre. J. H. Haughman, tracts 12—13—14—15—16—17; 62.49 acres at an average of $309.88. Martin & Shelby, tracts 9—10—11, 20.41 acres at an average of $249.50 per acre. T. R. Martin, tracts 1 and 2; 7.23 acres at an average of $460.36 per acre. J. D. Whitehouse, tracts 6 and 7; 3.84 acres at $425.00 per acre and tract No. 8; 1.74 acres at $350.00 per acre. H. G. Shewmaker, tract No. 3; 6.81 acres at $410.00 per acre, tracts 18 and 19, 20.88 acres at $320.00 per acre and tracts 21 and 22, 58.58 acres at $207.50 per acre. He also purchased tracts 4 and 5 with the improvements for $17,677.32, but by agreement with Mr. Mr. Shewmaker, Mr. Taylor retained these two tracts.

MASONIC BANQUET

Featuring Dedication Of New Hall.

What promises to be one of the most delightful social events ever attempted in Lancaster and one that will bring cheer to the heart and satisfaction to the inner man, will be the Masonic Banquet, heralded to be held at the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse next Tuesday night, preparatory to the dedication of the new Masonic Hall, which will be ready for occupancy on that evening. Plates are being laid for 250 guests and many will be on hand from adjoining communities, among them some of the leading lights in Masonry.

Hams, chickens; pickles; cakes, pies, coffee, beaten biscuits; ice cream, in fact everything that the season affords, will be supplied in abundance, by the good people of the community, and all have promised to have it at the warehouse by noon of next Tuesday. More anon.

Dr. WINNES

Is Freed At Harlan.

Indictment Charging Murder Is Dismissed Upon Motion of Commonwealth Attorney.

Harlan, April 15th.—Declaring against his conscience to prosecute an innocent man and it is as much his duty to discharge an innocent man as to prosecute a guilty man, Commonwealth's Attorney Forester, in circuit court there dismissed the indictment charging Dr. H. T. Winnes with the murder of Miss Lura Parsons.

Gravestones For All Who Fell In The War

Louisville.—Headstones for graves of former soldiers will be furnished by the government, according to a communication received from the War department. It was announced that a headstone will be allotted for the grave of every soldier buried in a city or national cemetery. In the case of a national cemetery the government bears the expense for the erection of the stone, but where a soldier is buried in a city or private cemetery the government will furnish the stone and will send it prepaid to the freight yard of the city.

REWARD FOR SLAYER

Of Miss Lura Parsons Reach $1,500.

That interest in the investigation to find the murder of Miss Lura Parsons, Pine Mountain Settlement School teacher, whose body was found in September on a lonely mountain trail in Harlan county, is not lagging since the dismissal of the indictment against Dr. H. C. Winnes, formerly of the State veterinarian's staff, is clearly revealed by comment throughout the State and also by additions to the rewards of the State and county which have brought the total reward which will go to whom ever leads to the arrest and conviction of the murderer to $1,500, says the Lexington Herald.

Gov. Edwin P. Morrow has offered a reward of $500 in the name of the State. Harlan county, where the crime was committed, has a standing reward of $200. To this the Courier Journal of Louisville has added $300 and Hallard & Hallard Company of Louisville has added $20. The Lexington Herald Company today adds $100 reward for arrest and conviction of the murderer, which makes the $1,500 total reward.

Officers have promised not to let the case drop for a minute, considering that the dismissal of the Winnes indictment merely reopens the case for further investigation. It is feared by them, however, that the time which has elapsed since the murder makes the probability of finding the slayer more remote.

Dr. Winnes, against whom the first indictment for murder was returned in connection with the case, has been dismissed and Jerry Reed, negro convict, also under indictment for murder, is still in prison, but Harlan county officers have not indicated whether they regard the evidence against him as strong enough to justify a trial. Three other negro convicts, Sam Eillery, James Robinson and Houston Holiday, who were on duty at the convict road camp near the scene of the crime at the time of the murder, have been released from the reformatory.

HASELDEN ENDORSED

For Republican State Senator.

The Republican County Committee met yesterday and nominated Col. Joe Haselden, as the party's man to represent them for State Senator from this district. The honor was tendered to Hon. Mack Morgan a few weeks ago, but was recently declined by this gentleman, as his friends were warmly supporting him for County School Superintendent. While we have heard nothing from Col. Haselden, we presume he will make the race and his friends say he will have no opposition from his party in the district.

Exchange.

The Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church will have an exchange in Goodloe & Walker Bros. Store, Saturday. Everything good to eat.

Talented Musician.

Prof. J. H. Fitch, of Dimock, South Dakota, arrived a few days ago and will locate here where he will instruct in music, being a competent teacher of brass, reed or stringed instruments. Quite a number are already interested in his work.

To Federal Court.

Several of our best citizens have been summoned to appear at the opening of Federal Court at Richmond next Monday. Those who go from here are: Messrs. F. R. Marksbury, D. C. Sanders, A. F. Sanders, George Robinson, Bright Herling and John Hicks.

Enthusiastic.

The regular meeting of the Lancaster Business Men's Association was held at the court house last Thursday evening, with about forty members in attendance. These meetings are getting more and more interesting each meeting night and new members are being added weekly. Some splendid work is expected to be accomplished by this organization in the near future, a definite plan of action will be taken up at the next regular meeting, which is the second Thursday in each month.

SPLENDID ENTERTAINMENT

MANY GREAT EVENTS

Happened In Month Of April.

April is the anniversary month of some of the most stirring events in American history, in fact, April marks the anniversary of the opening and closing of the battle for Independence. April 19, 1775, at Lexington, Mass., was fired the "shot heard round the world," and it was on April 11, 1783, that the first great war of America was closed. Later down through the years, April 6-7, 1862, marked one of the bloodiest battles of the great Civil War. April 21, 1898, war was declared against Spain and 280,564 Americans were in uniform to shatter the last hold of the Spaniard in the new world. Once more, Americans were called to war in April, for on the 6th of April 1917, war was declared against Germany and before that conflict ended 4,000,000 men were under arms.

Hung Jury.

In the case in Circuit Court yesterday of John Prewitt against Zan Robinson and George Robinson, of Lancaster, the jury failed to agree as to Zan Robinson. The case against George Robinson was dismissed on peremptory instructions. An automobile driven by Zan Robinson collided with a car driven by Prewitt. The latter's car was badly damaged.—Danville Advocate.

Honored.

Those in this city who know Mr. M. F. Elkin, State Commander of the Maccabees of Kentucky, who frequently visits the organization here, will be interested to learn he will deliver an address before the Maccabees of Colorado at a meeting in Denver in June. He will represent Hon. D. P. Markey, the Supreme Commander of the order, who was invited to make the address but could not attend the meeting, and chose Mr. Elkin to represent him.

Banquet For Ball Players.

A delightful six o'clock dinner was served at the puritan last Friday evening for the members of the Lancaster Hustlers Club. All the boys who are trying out for this team were present and expressed themselves as being in favor of a real ball team for Lancaster. Business Mgr., Walter Cox told at this banquet that the uniforms and supplies have been ordered and that they would arrive in a short time.

Pigs And Poultry.

On Saturday, April 16th, Mr. Gar-side of the Extension Department, University of Kentucky met with the Lancaster Hustlers Pig Club. After discussing different notions with the boys, Mr. Garside and Mr. Angle Sanders, the local leader of the club, visited each boy, inspecting quarters for keeping the pig.

The first prize for the best pig will be a trip to the State Fair. Besides a second and third prize, each boy who exhibits will receive a prize. These will be announced later. Pigs are now on foot to secure prizes for girls in the Garment-making clubs and for the girls and boys in Poultry Clubs. The total number of boys and girls in club work number two hundred and nineteen as follows:

First year and second year Clothing Projects—195 girls. Poultry Projects—14 girls and boys. Pig Club—10 boys.

WEST LOOKS A WINNER

Has Good Chance For Commissioner Of Internal Revenue.

The following dispatch from Washington to the Louisville Evening Post of last Monday, contains news of much interest to his local friends here. It says:

The South is swinging behind the candidacy of Millard F. West, of Lancaster, Ky., for Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and the appointment of the Kentuckian is now regarded in the light of a probability.

The Southern organization support that is coming to him is looked upon as likely to prove a decisive factor in his favor. Edwin Morrow, Governor of Kentucky; A. T. Hiett, National Committeeman for that State, and Chesley Searcy, chairman of the Republican State Committee, Sunday afternoon wired their endorsements of West to President Harding and to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

The Tennessee and Maryland Republican Congressional delegations are lining up for West, and have arranged to call on Secretary Mellon in his behalf.

It is understood here that President Harding is weary of the strife created by contending elements over this appointment, and has virtually told Secretary Mellon to name the man. A strong point in West's favor is that he already is acting commissioner, and that he has been with the revenue bureau so long that he has acquired by experience a thorough knowledge of its workings.

Representative Good, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee called recently on Secretary of Treasury Mellon and urged the appointment of Mr. West as Commissioner of Internal Revenue. He told Mr. Mellon that in his capacity as chairman of the Appropriations Committee he had frequently come in contact with West's work in the Internal Revenue Bureau, and considered him highly qualified.

BASE BALL

Town Team Organizes.

A meeting called last Friday evening by Mr. Walter Cox to organize a Town team was well attended and met with much approval, after a lengthy discussion they agreed to organize a Town team composed of all the local "Stars." Mr. William Kinnaird was elected Mgr., Mr. Clay Miller elected Captain.

It was decided at this meeting to order Base Ball uniforms and other paraphernalia. Lancaster has always supported athletics and we are thoroughly convinced that if the boys get out and practice hard and give to the local fans a real game each week that they will have the support of the entire town and county.

There is nothing that puts "pep" into a community more than a bunch of good live wires and we most heartily congratulate the local boys for taking on their shoulders the burden of re-organizing the old LANCASTER TOWN TEAM.

Swope To Join

Daugherty's Staff.

Former Congressman King Swope, Danville, probably will be appointed one of Attorney General Daugherty's assistants with a salary of at least $5,000 a year says the Courier Journal.

It is also probable, it was said, that the attorney general will designate former Governor Augustus E. Wilson to handle any special litigation that may develop during the Harding administration.

It has been decided definitely in Washington, it is said, that Circuit Judge Charles Kerr, of Lexington, will be made federal judge of the canal zone. It is understood this appointment will take effect about June 1st. Judge Kerr will have the distribution of considerable patronage.

School Board

Entertains.

The School Board of the Lancaster Graded and High School entertained the Faculty of the School at a fish supper at the Puritan last Friday evening. Everything that goes with a supper of this kind was served and all present expressed themselves as enjoying a wonderful feast.

APPEAL FOR SALVATION ARMY

Drive To Start Next Saturday.

The local Advisory Board, together with all persons interested in the work of the Salvation Army are requested to meet to-night at the rooms of the Garrard Bank and Trust Company to make final arrangements looking toward the appeal that will be made to the people of Garrard county in the interest of this work. A budget of $550 has been assigned to Garrard county and it should be easily raised.

The wonderful results that will be derived from this organization through the Home Service Board can hardly be estimated. The results of the work of the Salvation Army can be measured only by the number of souls rescued from the pit of despair. Who can estimate in dollars and cents the value to society of a neglected child, "if youth gets a chance to be young?"

Work among the children is only one of the sixteen major activities included in the Home Service Program of the Salvation Army for 1921.

Your help will mean more than you think.

"Many persons believe that the work of the Salvation Army is limited to street corner evangelical meetings," says Brigadier Herbert Roberts, of Cincinnati, Divisional Commander of the Army for Western Ohio and Kentucky. "They are all wrong. This is out one of the sixteen major activities of the organization. The sixteen branches of our work are:

1. Relief of the Poor—where practical assistance is extended to those who drift into poverty.
2. Rescue Homes and Maternity Hospitals—To shield and care for the girl whose innocence has been betrayed, give her a fresh start on the right road, and keep her and her baby together.
3. Young Women's Boarding Homes, in which girls of small incomes may obtain good food and clean, attractive quarters of American plan prices within their reach.
4. Industrial Homes—where men who have become derelicts are restored to the wage-earning class.
5. Working Men's Hotels—where a poor man may find clean beds at nominal price amid surroundings that make for his moral and spiritual regeneration.
6. Fresh Air Camps—which give outings to poor mothers and children of the crowded cities.
7. Christmas Dinners—provided for poor families and needy individuals.
8. Free Employment Bureaus—to obtain jobs for the "chronically" unemployed.
9. Prison Work—caring for the families of prisoners and restoring the former convict to respective society.
10. Juvenile Industrial and Agricultural Schools—where delinquent boys and girls are developed into physically and morally sound citizens and where orphans are reared and educated.
11. Boys' Friend Bureau—to care for the lad without funds or friends who would be thrown, otherwise, upon his own resources in a strange community.
12. Missing Friends Bureau—a bureau which specializes in search for persons—sons, daughters, wives, and other relatives, in any part of the civilized world.
13. Anti-Suicide Bureaus—which have met with marked success in preventing self-destruction.
14. Work among Service Men—Continuance of the well-known war record of the Salvation Army among those men still in uniform.
15. Fife and Evangelistic Work—preaching the Gospel in languages suited to the simplest of men, with its practical application, a recruiting and reclaiming agency for all churches.
16. Emergency Departments—a relief branch available for immediate service in the eve of disaster.

"The Salvation Army through its 1921 Home Service Program is now planning to extend its service from the cities to the rural districts. Advisory Boards are being formed in every community to accomplish this end."

W. K. ARGO DIES

Former Garrard Boy Passes At His Home At Colorado Springs.

Many Lancaster and Garrard county friends, have learned with regret of the sad death of Hon. William K. Argo, which occurred last Thursday at his home in Colorado Springs, Colo. The deceased is well remembered here and was a classmate of Dr. J. B. Kinnaird at Center College, where he graduated and was one of the most learned men in the deaf mutes and blind languages. He was in fact right at the top of his profession. For ten years he was superintendent of the Kentucky school for the Deaf, at Danville, leaving there in 1894, on account of ill health. He went to Colorado Springs, and up to the time of his death was Superintendent of the State for the Deaf and Blind.

Mr. Argo had been in ill health for the past several months, making a game fight against odds, yet he bravely met the end, as only a true Christian can. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Bell Givens Chenault, of Richmond, the two sons, Robert and William K., Jr. having died within the past three years. He was born at Paint Lick, this county, and was one of the best known men in Central Kentucky when he lived here. The funeral was held Saturday morning at Colorado Springs where interment took place.

JAPAN

Defies The Protests Of America.

Washington, D. C.—Japan's firm determination not to surrender Yap Island is stated in a series of five notes between the United States and Japan and made public recently by the State Department. The correspondence not only reveals the fact that Japan defied the American protest against the mandate over Yap, but that it also rejected summarily the United States' proposal that "even if Yap should be assigned under the mandate to Japan all other powers should have free and unhampered access to the Island for landing and operation of cables."

Good Meeting.

At the Buckeye Consolidated School last night, an enthusiastic crowd heard Messrs. R. H. Batson and Billie Miller explain the work of the Salvation Army and the program of the Home Service Campaign which will be launched next Saturday. The people of Buckeye can be depended upon to do their share of assistance during the campaign.

Too Much Booze.

Sam Wallace and Les Anderson were arrested here last Tuesday, by Revenue officers and taken before Commissioner Lawill at Danville, charged with having moonshine in their possession. They gave bond in the sum of $500 and are to appear before the Federal Court at Richmond, which convenes next week.

Total Eclipse of Moon Will Be Visible Tonight

The total lunar eclipse of the moon on April 21-22 will be visible throughout the United States. The moon is north of the center of the earth's shadow, but nevertheless near enough to it to be completely immersed.

At 11:57 P. M. on the 21st the moon first touches the penumbra, but it will not be until well after midnight that the darkening becomes conspicuous. At 1:03 A. M. the edge of the true shadow is reached, and more and more of the moon will be hidden until at 2:23 it is completely obscured except for the faint reddish light refracted through the earth's atmosphere.

Totally lasts only 42 minutes, and the moon is entirely clear of the shadow at 4:26, though it does not leave the penumbra until 5:22. The bright star, Spica will be within 10 degrees of the eclipse moon, making a very pretty spectacle for anyone who gets up to see it.

Notice.

A special meeting of the American Legion will be held TUESDAY NIGHT, APRIL 26th. All the members are urged to be present.

GOING FISHING

If You Have Imagination Its a Great Sport

This is the season of year to go fishing. If you have never gone fishing you should go, provided you have an imagination. If you have no imagination you would get no pleasure out of a fishing trip.

Big fish stories are the outgrowth of the imagination of fishermen, says Col. Harry Summers, of the Elizabethtown News.

They get a great deal of pleasure getting ready to go fishing and can talk about it and plan for it and imagine how many fish they are going to catch. They also get a great deal of pleasure talking about it after they return. Imagination with the real fishermen colors everything both before and after taking.

When the dogwood is in bloom and winter clothes begin to become uncomfortable the real fishman pines for the river bank like a catbird wants to try its wings in the open air.

Every fisherman loves nature, and in the spring time he simply longs to get away from the haunts of men and sit down on the lap of nature. The birds sing sweeter to him as they sit from limb to limb on the bank with love songs in their throats.

The music of the water as it goes over the dam is better than mother's lullaby and when you were put to sleep as a kid; it is a music that never changes its tune but never grows tiresome. It is the first thing you hear in the morning; and the last thing you hear tonight.

You pick yourself out a good place where there is both the still pool and the rushing current beyond. The minnow is put on the hook the line dropped where you want it and then you sit and watch the cork, light your pipe or cigar and then dream. You only have pleasant dreams on the river bank and you can spend hours in this delightful pastime. Presently the reel begins to sing, the bass has made a dart with your minnow and hook, the cork has disappeared. What ecstasy! What delight! There is no sensation just like it. You hook him and then the battle begins until you finally land him. This joy is never satisfied. Each new strike gives a sensation just as delightful as the first one. Your pipe may go out and your dreams rest for a while, but your joy is as constant as the foam below the dam.

Then how wonderful the cooking is, how different it is from home eating, simply because you have a great appetite, and then the bed, you forget that it is hard because you sleep so hard.

You are up early in the morning. You have spun your stories and told your jokes the night before as you smoked and played a game or two of cards, but after breakfast separate for another day's fishing and another day of joyful anticipation of what you are going to catch.

The fishermen are nature's children. They act naturally because they live close to mother earth.

They come home refreshed and rejuvenated, with all the smallness of life and its little petty things forgotten and buried below the dam, and then we talk about it and think about it until it is time to go again. We would rather be a fisherman than either a philosopher or a poet, for the real, genuine fisherman is something of both.

CARELESS HANDLING CAUSE OF BIG LOSS

Easy for Potatoes to Develop Serious Diseases.

Important That Utmost Care Be Given Tubers While in Storage to Prevent Rot—Good Ventilation Will Assist.

Careless handling of potatoes during and after digging, says A. U. Tolans, chief inspector for the Minnesota state seed potato certification board, is often responsible for serious loss from rots. Every bruise or infection on a potato makes it easy for various storage rots to develop. These diseases have their origin in the soil or in unclean bins. It is important, therefore, that great care be taken while digging and also while handling the potatoes after placing them in storage.

Potatoes badly bruised when dug should not be placed in storage with sound potatoes, since they are certain to rot and spread infection throughout the bins. A field that has contained blackleg, and which has not been rogued, is very likely to yield a considerable number of potatoes slightly infested, at least, with blackleg rot. If these are placed in storage with sound tubers they may be responsible for large amounts of storage rot, especially if the potatoes are damaged when being dug or after being placed in storage.

Mr. Tolans finds that a large amount of storage rots can be prevented by placing the potatoes as soon as dug in crates, which, when filled, can be hauled to the storage cellar and carefully dumped wherever wanted. If it is necessary to drop the potatoes several feet much damage can be avoided by providing a chute for lowering them into the cellar.

Storage cellars, especially those which contained a lot of rotted potatoes the previous year, should be thoroughly disinfected with a strong solution of bluestone—one pound being dissolved in ten gallons of water; or formaldehyde, one pint in ten gallons of water, before the potatoes are put away. Good ventilation with temperature of from 35 to 40 degrees Fahrenheit will aid materially in keeping down the loss from storage rots.

COMMON SALT IS DANGEROUS

Hogs and Chickens Are Very Susceptible to Poisoning by Mineral—Instances Cited.

It should be borne in mind that hogs and chickens are very susceptible to poisoning by common salt.

A lady emptied ice containing salt from the ice cream refrigerator in the backyard. The chickens picked up salt enough to kill them.

A newly-wed made a cake of salt, presuming it to be sugar. It was thrown to the chickens and killed all of them.

Pigs were allowed to graze in a pasture with cattle where they had access to a salt lick; they licked the salt ravenously and all but three of the herd died.

Another case is reported where salt brine was mistaken for sugarwater and fed to hogs with garbage; the pigs were poisoned and died the following day.

Salt poisoned hogs show no symptoms for several hours, when they are taken with dizziness, increased thirst, frothing at the mouth, diarrhea, and vomiting. Keep salt away from hogs and chickens.—Geo. H. Glover, Colorado Agricultural College.

PROPER TIME TO CUT WHEAT

It May Be Done With Safety When Straw Has Lost Nearly All of Its Green Color.

Wheat may be cut with safety when the straw has lost nearly all its green color and the grains are not entirely hardened. If cut sooner than this, shriveled kernels will result. If left standing until fully ripe, a bleached appearance, due to the action of the elements, often results, and loss from shattering may ensue.

SUCCESS IN MARKETING

Success in co-operative marketing depends upon obtaining a sufficient volume of business, observing co-operative principles, employing capable management, following up-to-date business methods, and having loyal members.

RETAILERS

Fight Luxury Tax.

Favor Adoption Of Proposed Sales Levy; Association Asks Letters To Senators And Representatives Urging Vote For Change In Laws.

The Retailers' Association of Kentucky, at its last meeting, went squarely on record as in favor of the repeal of the so-called luxury tax and in favor of the adoption of the proposed sales tax.

In a statement just issued the association asks all its members and others interested to write to their Senators and Representatives and ask them to give their support to the proposed change in the national tax laws.

The association also adopted strong resolutions in part as follows: "Be it Resolved That this Association is opposed to the excess profits tax and to certain classes of excise taxes, including all of the so-called luxury taxes, and is opposed to any other form of tax which would add to the burden of business and the people of this country."

"Be it Further Resolved, That this Association favors, in lieu of the above mentioned taxes, a one per cent sales or turnover tax, which we believe will meet all the expenses of economically conducting the government and provide sufficient funds to take care of the present national debt."

"This Association favors the sales or turnover tax for the following reasons:

"(1) Any business can well afford to pay a tax based on its turnover of merchandise, if the rate of tax is low, and if the turnover tax is the only tax on the business.

"(2) This tax is certain, as it does not depend upon profits. It will prevent the pyramiding of taxation and could easily be paid monthly to the government because it is fixed, definite and certain amount.

"(3) The sales or turnover tax is simple of administration, as the sales or cash record of the tax payer furnishes the basis for the computation of the tax. It eliminates uncertainty of inventory valuations and does away with the falling valuation of merchandise where a tax has been

Eggs Preserved Now Will Furnish a Winter Supply.

With eggs as abundant and cheap now as they will probably be any time during the year they may be profitably preserved in water-glass solution and kept in excellent condition for eight to ten months for use when eggs are expensive, according to J. Holmes Martin, in charge of the poultry work at the College of Agriculture. Eggs laid during April, May and June have been found to keep better than those laid later in the season.

The secret of success in preserving eggs for winter use lies in getting them into the solution while they are fresh, clean and if possible fertile. Small stains may be removed with a cloth dampened with vinegar but under no conditions should a badly soiled egg be used for preserving for if placed in the solution it will spoil and if washed a protective coating which prevents spoiling will be removed.

In using the water-glass method of preserving eggs one quart of water-glass or sodium silicate as it is called should be used to nine quarts of water that has been boiled and cooled. This mixture placed in a five-gallon crock or jar will be sufficient to preserve 15 dozen eggs. Only earthenware jars should be used and these should be thoroughly cleaned and sealed and then allowed to dry. At least two inches of the solution should cover the eggs after they have been placed in the container. Additional eggs may be added from time to time.

The crock containing the preserved eggs should be placed in a cool, dry place. Waxed paper covered over and tied around the top of the crock will prevent evaporation of the solution.

Uncle Walt's Story

PERVERSY OF THINGS

"IT BEATS all how fate puts a crimp in a man's fondest ambitions," said the retired merchant. "Recently I have been hungering for an old-fashioned boiled dinner, composed of corn beef and all the standard vegetables. I mentioned the matter several times, and my wife said she would give the hired girl a holiday and get me up a boiled dinner, such as we used to have in the halcyon days. The banquet was scheduled for yesterday, and I looked forward to it like a hungry wolf. I couldn't think of anything else for three days. And when the meat was dished up I had an attack of jumping toothache, and was jumping over the chairs with my head under my arm."

"That's always the way in this world, doggone it," commented the hotel keeper. "Just as sure as you look forward to something you're going to run up against a disappointment that will break your heart."

"Last week I had so much business I was on my feet day and night. I didn't get any sleep to speak of for several nights, and my eyes felt like sand-blasted glass. I was just dead on my feet I was so played out. I looked forward to the time when I could sleep off a few lengths of slumber just as I had looked forward to that boiled dinner."

"At last things stacked up and I went up to my room at seven o'clock in the evening, prepared to sleep sound the clock, or as much longer as I felt necessary. I was so drowsy I could hardly see to get my legs off, and I heaved a sigh of relief when I lay down in between the sheets. But before I had been there three minutes old Jiggleson came along with his dress band and began playing selections under my window. The congressman from this district was occupying the room next to mine, and those loved musicians were serenading him, probably hoping to be appointed postmaster before long. They played every damned tune you ever heard of, and I had to leave my own room and go to one at the back of the hotel."

"That room hadn't been used for a long time, and things weren't in good repair. I climbed into the bed and was snoring a few quotations from the classics, when all the slats came down at once and I landed on the floor on my ear with my feet up on the foot of the bed. I thought my back was broken in three places, but I managed to get up, and then I liked back to my own room. I had left the window open when I yelled at Jiggleson and threw some furniture at his musicians, and I was so sleepy I forgot to close it. The bed was right up against the window, and I was just getting asleep when more when it began to rain. About forty gallons of water blew in on me before I could get the doggone window closed. I had to rustle around for a dry night shirt and some sheets and things, and by that time I was pretty near desperate. I don't know of anything more aggravating than to be drenched by a good old-fashioned rain and then be unable to make connections."

"At last I got into bed again, all snug and comfortable, and was doing some ground and lofty sleeping. Then along came a guest who mistook my room for his own, which was on the floor above. It happened that his key fitted the lock of my door, so he opened it and came in. When he saw me there he took me by the ankles and dragged me out onto the floor and sat on me, and asked me what in thunder I meant by occupying his bed, for which he had paid in advance. It took ten minutes to make things clear to him, and by that time I felt like a driving idiot. "But I had sense enough left to get back into bed and make another try at sleeping. I had slept about twenty-seven watta when a big framed picture of my wife, which hung over the head of the bed, came down and smashed itself on my face and put my nose out of joint. Then I gave up. I put on my clothes and went downstairs and sat up all night, hoping the building wouldn't cave in on me. It didn't, and that was the only bit of luck I had that night."

THREE PRESIDENTS ASK AID FOR CHINA

Harding, Wilson and Taft Appeal to Americans to Help Stricken Millions of Sister Republic.

The President and two ex-Presidents of the United States have joined, for the first time in the history of the country, in an appeal for a philanthropic enterprise. President Harding, ex-President Wilson and ex-President Taft are all in the forefront of the movement to send aid from America to the famine victims of China.

One of President Harding's first official acts after his inauguration, taken when he had been in the White House less than two weeks, was to renew the appeal made by his predecessor in behalf of American starve victims in the East. President Harding said in part:

"At this, the earliest practicable moment in my administration, I desire to add my own to the many appeals which have been issued heretofore in behalf of the starving people of a large section of China."

"The picture of China's distress is so tragic that I am moved, therefore, to renew the appeal heretofore made and to express the hope that the American people will continue to contribute to this humanitarian cause as generously as they possibly can."

In appointing the American committee for China Famine Fund, with his own immediate predecessor in the White House, ex-President Taft, as one of the members and Thomas W. Lamont of New York as chairman, President Wilson said in his proclamation:

"Not only in the name of humanity, but in that of the friendliness which we feel for a great people in distress, I venture to ask that our citizens shall, even though the task of giving is not today a light one, respond as they can to this distant but appealing cry for help."

LIFE SAVING STAMPS HELP FAMINE VICTIMS

Each "Mercy" Sticker Purchased for Three Cents Provides Food for One Day for a Chinese.

Sales of "Life Saving Stamps" by the American Committee for China Famine Fund for the benefit of China famine victims have reached a total of thousands of dollars at the end of the first month, and already the money is actually saving lives in China. Orders during the first month aggregated more than 10,000,000 stamps, which will mean at the rate of 3 cents for each stamp—$300,000 for the Chinese when the complete returns have been made. The stamps are intended to secure a multitude of small contributions from persons who will not have an opportunity to contribute in other ways. The campaign for China is the greatest single philanthropic effort now before the American people.

Every state in the Union is now cooperating in the life saving stamp sales, and special committees are at work in more than 2,000 cities throughout the country. The circulation of the stamps is being effected by sales organizations composed of officers of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Societies, assisted by commercial organizations, schools, churches, Boy and Girl Scout troops, Y. M. and Y. W. Christian Associations, fraternal lodges, hotel associations, boards of education and other volunteers interested in the movement to extend a helping hand to a sister republic in distress.

House to house canvassing for the sale of the stamps—which are intended to be placed on the backs of letters and packages—has proved the most effective method in the smaller communities. In the big cities the stamps have been sold to business houses, which are using them on their outgoing mail and packages. A nominal quota of ten stamps for every adult has been set by the committee, but in many centers this already has been passed. If unable to obtain stamps through a local committee write China Famine Fund Committee, Bible House, New York.

BUY CHINA LIFE SAVING STAMPS

If each person buys ten stamps at a cost of 30 cents, this community will go over its stamp quota. Stamps can be secured from the local China Famine Fund Committee or directly from China Famine Fund, Bible House, New York City.

"Elephant's Ear."

The "elephant's ear" is a Hawaiian or Polynesian plant, with very large, bright green leaves, used to give subtropical effect in bedding. The rootstock is planted in good, moist soil out of doors or started in a hotbed or a greenhouse and transplanted. In the fall it is stored where dampness and frost cannot reach it. In the Pacific Islands the rootstock is used for food extensively, the pot of Hawaii being made from it. The plant is called taro.

Let a Child Choose.

Children should never be forced into a line of work for which they show no aptitude, according to Dr. Edward J. Kempf, a New York psycho-pathologist and author. In an article in the New York Sun, "Many parents unwittingly warp their children's whole lives because they fail to realize the vital importance of letting the child pick its own natural bent," says Dr. Kempf, "and they hedge him in by don'ts and taboos to the sacrifice of his personality."

TODD

This community was very much shocked Thursday of last week when the news was received over the telephone that Miss Mary Todd was dead. Few knew that she had gone to the hospital as she was in Paint Lick and community in the interest of the Cradle Roll of the Baptist Sunday school Saturday afternoon and at church Sunday morning. She helped get dinner Monday before going to the hospital on Wednesday evening for gall stone. She was reported as getting along nicely Thursday morning. In about an hour after the message came saying she was doing nicely another came saying she was dead. Too much cannot be said in praise of Miss Mary. She was a devoted christian, a member of the Mt. Tabor church since young girlhood. She never tired of doing things for the sick and needy. Always visiting them and never going empty handed, especially if they needed assistance. Miss Mary was born Dec. 13th, 1870. She is survived by three sisters, Mesdames Robt. Botkins, A. F. Caldwell and Wm. Rogers and five brothers, Newt and John of Okla., Geo. THREE DISEASES Caused Tobacco Damage In 1920.

During 1920 three distinct leaf-spot diseases of burley and black tobacco contributed toward damage which resulted in heavy losses throughout the tobacco growing sections of Kentucky, according to a circular which is written by Dr. W. D. Valleau, plant pathologist of the College of Agriculture and which has just come off the press. These diseases were wildfire, angular leaf-spot and a disease not so well recognized which Dr. Valleau calls mosaic spot. Greatest damage was caused by the first two diseases while the third was of comparatively little economic importance, according to the circular.

Wildfire caused serious injury in the seed beds during the past season, appearing about May 15 and continuing to do serious damage for about two weeks. Further trouble was not reported until the middle of July about one week after a severe rain and wind storm. At that time wildfire and angular leaf spot both caused heavy losses in several fields in which the tobacco was making a very rapid growth. Practically no injury was caused on small tobacco at this time.

In August, following a rainy period, both diseases spread rapidly and caused serious losses throughout the burley section, the circular states. In the latter part of August the diseases spread rapidly in the dark section. From this time on they continued to cause serious losses following every rain storm where wind was present.

As far as could be learned in investigations conducted by Dr. Valleau, wildfire first appeared as a serious disease in the burley district in 1920. Angular leaf-spot appeared to be quite well known to many growers who called it "rust." Serious losses have been caused in isolated localities by this disease for at least 20 years, the loss of entire crops being reported in some cases.

A small amount of evidence was gathered in the black tobacco district indicating that wildfire had been present there causing at least a part of the losses from the disease commonly known as "blackfire." Angular leaf-spot has been present in the dark tobacco section for a long time, the circular states, causing a part of the losses from diseases known as "black fire" and rusts.

The extension circular which is No. 89 and which may be obtained free by writing the Experiment Station, Lexington, contains a discussion of the causes of the diseases and precautions which growers can follow in controlling them.

It was three years and six months in the making and 3,000 pins were destroyed before the work perfected. It is worth your time to see it.—Murray Ledger.

Oil of Apples.

Chemists have newly succeeded in extracting from apple parings, by means of ether, an essential oil, yellowish, and of a somewhat gummy consistency, which possesses in high degree the characteristic and delicious odor of fresh apples. Crabapple parings yield more of this oil than those of ordinary apples. It is likely to be turned to useful account for flavoring purposes and conceivably for perfumes.

The "Green Mountain Boys."

The "Green Mountain Boys" was a name assumed by a body of soldiers from Vermont in the Revolutionary war. They captured Fort Ticonderoga at the battle of Bennington. They were organized originally by Ethan Allen to oppose the claims of New York to the territory of Vermont. The Green Mountain Boys were the first to ask that Vermont be regarded as a state. This was not granted until 1791, when Vermont was admitted as the fourteenth state.

Why Not Better Roads?

Men who served in the American army in France tell us of the wonderful roads they found over there.

They were eye openers
which did more than merely open eyes. They caused our returned soldiers to think, and talk, and make comparisons that are not flattering to our own country.

France, Belgium, Germany,
Luxemburg, all of these countries had perfect hard surfaced roads until the engines of war destroyed them in spots. No mud, no ruts or holes, no discomfort of any kind.

America is a Croesus in wealth compared with any of these countries, yet our traveled highways are a perpetual disgrace to our intelligence.

We spend billions and billions in useless governmental,
state and personal extravagance,
but are not sufficiently far sighted to place our public thoroughfares in even third-rate condition.

We have wealth, the materials, and the labor necessary to make our roads the best in the world, but apparently we are to parsimonious or indifferent to interest ourselves in this necessary work.

If we lay down a few isolated miles of concrete or macadam we are satisfied, and let it go at that.

We simply can't bring ourselves to the point of energetic road construction.

Rich in all other ways, we seem to be destitute of the one essential that is more vital to our common good than any other.

Foreigners coming to this country marvel at our slackness in this respect. They can not understand how we can be satisfied with sloshing around in the mud as we do. They wonder that we are able to climb out of the ruts and find
our way back to our homes
again.

There is no excuse for this condition, but the fault lies with the citizen as much as with the public official. As a rule, officialdom supplies
only what citizenry demands.

As spring opens hundreds of thousands of men should be at work on the public roads of this country. But they are not. There is much talk,
more grumbling, unlimited inactivity, and then forgetfulness in the joys of the latest sensation.

Such is the reputation we have earned in road construction.

What's the matter with us,
anyway?

Back To Cave Men.

A prominent physical instructor in one of the big cities,
who apparently craves publicity and whose name we therefore conveniently forget, advises his "patients" to restore their youth by returning to the habits of the cave man, and he has a considerable following of men whose position in the world should enable them to know better. Such, at least,
is the information we glean
from the metropolitan press.

The advice is interesting, at least, and if his "patients" follow it minutely they will become even more interesting.

The cave man used neither knife nor fork. He snatched a hunk of meat, tore it with his teeth, and devoured it until he could hold no more. The instructor's "patients," we presume, are doing likewise.

If the cave man had an enemy he smashed him on the head with a club. Possibly the "patients" are equally ferocious.

When Mr. C. M. wanted a wife he simply swiped the first maiden who pleased his fancy
and bore her away to his cave.
The "patients" no doubt, are just pining for a similar experience by a return to the primitive.

We pity the fool because he hasn't brains enough to know better, but when a supposedly intelligent man descends to a level below that of the imbecile
it must make God blush for some of the creatures He creates.

No Illusions Here.

Admiral Von Tirpitz, former head of the German navy,
says that "Europe brought culture to American countries five hundred years ago, and it should now be a very proud task for America today to save European culture from inevitable destruction."

The admirable then naively adds: "It is only by pursuing such a course that she (America) can hope to have with her
the sympathies of the world in the inevitable competition with the Japanese."

Reading between the lines,
this would seem to be a sort of veiled threat that if the American people do not dig down into their money bags and hand
over the yellow metal European countries will all go to the dogs and then sit idly by and watch the Japanese devour us
at their leisure.

Von Tirpitz and other solicitous gentleman on the other side of the Atlantic should lose no sleep regarding our status
in a possible war with Japan.
We have no illusions over here.

If we are forced to defend ourselves against Japanese aggression we will have to fight alone. And we can do it, even if we are a peace loving nation.

Fear of Japanese reprisals would prevent aid from any country to the south of us, even if they were in a position to render such aid, which they are not.

Jealousy and a secret desire to see the great American giant crippled commercially would probably prevent any European country from raising a hand in our behalf.

As to the sympathy of the rest of the world, that is a matter that will neither concern us greatly or deter us a particle when the army of the invader approaches our shores,
if one ever does.

Admiral Von Tirpitz does not understand us any better
today than he did in the days
just preceding our entry into the late war.

In a matter of age we are an infant among the nations of the earth, but we are at least able to toddle alone and retain a firm grip upon our self respect.

We do not buy European sympathy with American gold.

Crossroads Of Manhood.

Young men budding into manhood should remember that it is just as easy to go straight as it is to be crooked.
There is everything to gain by going straight and everything
to lose by being crooked.

Parental influence has its effect, but a youth approaching the crossroads of manhood makes his own choice as he enters the great maelstrom of life. He has reached the age of self determination and is resentful of interference with his desires.

At this age it is well for him to remember that the man who is successful and honored today is the one who chose the straight path and denied himself the fictitious indulgences of youth, while the one who is without honor and without fortune followed the gilded will-o'-the-wisp to the destruction of his manhood and of his hopes.

There is no middle of the road course.

The Center of Population.

The center of population is the center of gravity of the population of a country, each individual being assumed to have the same weight. In the United States the center of population has followed the parallel of 39 degrees latitude and has moved in a westward direction during the last 125 years.

Lancaster School Notes

This week is partly a holiday for the school as the teachers are going to K. E. A. at Louisville and there will be very little school news this week. The school children can play ball and tennis to their hearts content and will be able to rest up in order to commence the reviewing for examinations and practicing for the entertainments during Commencement week in the latter part of May.

The past week was test week.
There will be no more tests this school term but examinations come the latter part of May and these are dreaded more by the pupils than just the monthly tests, for exams, you know whether you passed or flunked out in any particular subject.
If you flunk then you will have to take that subject over again the next term. There is some one who always fails, he is styled a quitter by both teachers and classmates. Are you going to be that one?

L. H. S. Loses To Madison High.

Madison High defeated Lancaster
High last Friday on the local diamond by the score of 4 to 0. Both teams played good ball but Madison High proved the better. Batteries for Lancaster were Cox and Cochran, Hrattion pitching one inning, for Madison High, Reid and Reenes.

Thursday Lancaster High will journey to Nicholasville High. Friday they will try the Theklid Selects at Nicholasville. Let's Paint Lick Nicholasville again!

The school enjoyed a very delicious musical program last Thursday morning during chapel period. Mrs.
Noland selected some very pleasing records for the victrola and we always enjoy Thursday morning periods, feeling sure that we will be highly entertained.

Education and Luxuries.

We spent less than a billion dollars in the last year for which we have a record for education. This takes in all schools and colleges.
But we spent for luxuries in 1920,
the last year for which we have a record nearly $23,000,000!

About 23 times as much for luxuries as for education!
Six billion dollars more in the one year for luxuries than we have spent in the whole history of the United States for education!

In 1920 we spent practically as much for face powder, cosmetics and perfumes as we laid out on all our educational activities.

The fact is, we are shirkers when it comes to education.

We say that the schools cost us a lot of money when we ought to be ashamed of the higglerly amount we spend.

All the school has missed Commodore the past week very much. He has been very sick and we hope to see him back when school opens next Monday morning.

Sophomore News.

The Sophomore English Class is now reading "Silas Marner" by Geo.
Elliot. It is a pattern novel and is proving to be very interesting to the class.

Our class has had a very regular attendance this month and we hope our esteemed friend and classmate, James I. Watkins, who has been absent almost a week, will not break
this splendid record.

Some Things To Remember

When folks tell what isn't true about you, don't get angry. Suppose they had known the truth about you and told that!

Don't talk unless you have something to say. You can waste your own time if you want to, but you haven't any right to take up somebody else's.

Being too sure is sometimes as bad
as being too slow.

If you are going to run this year
on your own power you'll soon run out of fuel. Can you guess who can start you and keep you going?

Opera House

"Twin Beds"

The American stage owes much to the famous producer, David Heala-co. Particular credit is due him for the vast improvement in the vital matter of effective stage lighting.
In the early days of the American drama a few "foot" and "border"
lights were thought to be sufficient.
Facial expression, the charm of dramatic art, was wholly or partially lost in consequence. Mr. Heala-co gave years of study and spent large sums in experiments before the present high standard of stage lighting was perfected. No first class theatrical production is complete nowadays unless the matter of proper stage lighting has been considered.
A contributing factor to the enormous success "Twin Beds" has enjoyed for a number of years is due

in a measure to the wonderful lighting effects carried by the company.
A trip behind the scenes would be interesting. A perfect network of cable and connecting wires lead to all parts of the stage and to the flies.
Attached are innumerable incandescent lamps of various sizes. In addition to these, a series of batteries connect the telephones, others, concealed beneath the stage carpet serve to give cues. Without these, many of the uproariously funny scenes and situations would lose their effect; the actors being guided by sound only
as to proper entrance and exits.
It requires three hours of fast work
on the part of the chief electrician and his assistants to place the electrical equipment in proper order for the performance. Ten big boxes and crates are needed to transport the electrical effects belonging to the "Twin Beds" company, which is to appear at the Lexington Opera house Friday and Saturday, April 22
and 23, with a special matinee Saturday. Adv.

Uncle Walt's Story

Walt Mason

BEGINNING THE DAY

"A MAN begins the day in a good humor," observed the professor, "everything will prosper with him." "You talk as though beginning the day in a good humor was as easy as falling off a log," said the low-browed man. "I suppose you have been reading one of those fool sunshine books, and you think a man can be in a good humor just by saying he is going to be. But a man can't control his humors any more than he can control dreams."

"Some days I feel like the original Sunny Samuel, and I just naturally go around shedding light into the dark places, and making everybody glad. At such times the world seems an unqualified success, and the fact that I was born into it does not cause me any remorse. If some prominent citizen backed me up against a fence and asked me what made me feel so gay, I couldn't give him any helpful information. I don't know, myself, what causes the chipper feeling. I suppose it must be because my works are in good condition, doing their digestive stunts at the old stand."

"After a few days the glad feeling passes away, and instead of being a Sunny Samuel I become a Mourning Muse. I have all kinds of presentiments of evil. I have a firm conviction that the bottom is about to drop out of everything, and that I'll be mixed up with the wreckage. I take a pessimistic view of everything, and go grouchin' around until even the cows are sick of seeing me, and they give me a lift with their hind feet as a gentle hint that I should come out of my trance."

"If a leading business man asked me to explain my melancholy I couldn't do it. The world seems to be moving along as though nothing had happened, the same old sun is shining on the day shift, and the scented rephrys are blowing through my whiskers as of old."

"Often a man begins the day wrong, through some accident or unpleasant experience. Then he knows why he has a grouch, but that doesn't help him to get rid of it. This morning I was lying in bed dreaming that I was the only original white hope, and that I was making a heroic effort to bring the laurels back to the Caucasian race. I was just administering an uppercut that seemed destined to bring home the bacon, when I felt out of bed and practically ruined my head against the floor."

"I came downstairs in a besetly humor, and after breakfast I went over and picked a quarrel with old Doelittle, so that he had to shin up a tree to escape violence, and all because I was feeling ornery. It wouldn't have been safe for any man to tell me that in order to begin the day right all a man has to do is to begin it right."

"I have gone out from the house to milk the cows in the morning, many a time, feeling as blithesome and glad as a dickybird, and quite satisfied that the day was going to be one round of pleasure. Then a cow would give me a poke in the ribs with one of her celluloid horns, or push her big splay foot into a brimming bucket of milk, and the joyous stuff was all off, and I'd be so sore all day that Aunt Julia would hand me my meals with a pitchfork."

"The other morning I got up feeling so mean that I was ashamed to look in the mirror. I went downtown after breakfast, in the mood to rob a blind organ grinder of his few plugged nickels. Then I went to the post office and got a registered letter. A man who had owed me $2 for five years had an ingrowing conscience at last, and sent the money to me. When I left the post office everybody commented on my winning smile and said I was the little sunbeam of the town."

Twins Strangely Linked.

Albert Grierson and Walter Grierson, St. Louis twins, were members of the same company, and each wore a small diamond ring and a watch and chain in France. Albert lost the stone of his ring and a few days later Walter lost the stone of his. Then Albert lost his watch and chain and soon afterward Walter's disappeared. Then Albert was wounded and Walter followed suit. And now they intend to marry twin sisters, Geraldine and Wendine Smalley of Sheldon, Ill.—Indianapolis News.

All Depends.

"Can you support my daughter in the style she's been accustomed to?" asked the father of the young man who sought his daughter in marriage. "Well," replied the young man thoughtfully, "is she strong for a $500 baby grand piano or a $5 talking machine?"

A Good Wish.

Candidate-Election day is also my birthday. Friend—Good! I hope you will have many happy returns.

MANY COMMON FLOWERS

Are Easily Grown In Kentucky.

No home in Kentucky need be without growing flowers around it or cut flowers on the table during the coming summer since many common flowers are easily grown in the State, according to N. R. Elliott, of the College of Agriculture. Flowers not only furnish a beautiful sight for those that see them but also recreation for those that grow them.

Some of the most common flowers which can be easily grown on the home grounds include Scarlet Sage, Geraniums, Zinnias, Poppies, Phlox Dahlias, Petunias and Nasturtiums. Such plants as Castor Bean and Caladium or Elephant Ear have been found to be the most common ones for foliage.

Other flowers which are not commonly grown but which should be planted this year to increase the variety are Cosmos, Bachelor's Buttons, Haskam, Lark Spur, Ragged Robin, Salvia, Snap Dragons, Sweet Williams and sweet Alyssum.

In arranging the flower garden it is best to plant the seeds in rows or beds so that they may be easily cultivated. The flowers should be arranged according to their color in a pleasing and satisfactory manner. If the flowers are to be planted in front of a red brick house such flowers as Scarlet Sage and others having a bright red color should not be planted immediately in front of it.

Beds should always be located along the fence, hedge near the house or in a flower garden. Such an arrangement is to be preferred to a star-shaped or round bed in the middle of the front lawn. This kind of bed should be placed at the side of the house and the tall flowers planted in the center ranging down to the smaller ones in the outer circles. A good arrangement for this is Elephant Ear in the center, Scarlet Sage next, Geraniums next with Sweet Alyssum or Candy Tuft for the border.

In planting beds along the fence such tall flowers as Cosmos should be planted at the back with the shorter ones such as Zinnias, Marigolds, Bachelor's Buttons and Sweet Alyssum in the center named.

One pound of nitrate of soda dissolved in five gallons of water and used to sprinkle the beds is usually all the commercial fertilizer needed after the soil has been thoroughly prepared for planting.

Be Strong

THE strong and vigorous man or woman is envied by less fortunate humanity afflicted with aches, pains, irritations and ailments. The sufferer says to himself, "If I could only be well, how happy I would be," for health is more essential to the joy of living than is wealth.

The kidneys almost literally wash the blood and keep it clean and free from impurities. When the kidneys are out of order, they fail to filter out this waste and poison matter. It remains in the system to cause backache, rheumatic pains, sore muscles and other ailments.

Foley Kidney Pills

Help the system eliminate this poisonous waste. They soothe, strengthen and heal sore, weak and diseased kidneys and bladder. When the kidneys are working properly, uric acid returns, refreshing sleep is possible, and health and strength come again.

C. W. Smith, 1285 No. 4th St., Salina, Kas., writes: "I am very much pleased with Foley Kidney Pills. I am working in a coal yard and have been very much troubled with my back. I have taken several doses of Foley Kidney Pills and they have already helped me."

WILL NOT ALLOW HOGS AT LARGE

Statute Prohibiting The Keeping Of Hogs In City Or Town Limits Will Be Enforced.

Louisville, April 16.—Hogs will not be permitted to run about the streets of any incorporated town or city in Kentucky this summer and they may be kept in towns only where the space and cleanliness constantly maintained are sufficient to prevent offensive odors or other conditions dangerous to health, says Dr. A. T. McCormack, State Health Officer.

There is a law on the Kentucky statute books which authorizes local health authorities to prosecute persons who permit their hogs to become a nuisance, he explained, and it is the intention of the State Board of Health to recommend such prosecution wherever conditions are encountered that seem to demand it.

Hogs running at large, he pointed out in explanation of this decision, constitute a real menace to the health of a community. There is an ever-present danger of their polluting water supplies and unclean pens are a favorite breeding place for flies and a very common source of the diseases which flies disseminate.

American Legion News

Endorsement of the American Legion's program for relief to disabled, which was adopted by the investigating committee, named by President Harding, was voted at the regular session of the Maine legislature. A memorial resolution was passed requesting Congress to adopt the Legion's legislative recommendations.

After it was announced that there were 3,000 former service men in Los Angeles, Cal., out of work and that an average of 500 men apply for employment to the American Legion headquarters there daily, the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association of that city decided that it was time to act. A campaign of relief has been started and the funds will be administered by the chairman of the American Legion Interpost Council.

George Sylvester Viereck's boast that he can control 6,000,000 American votes in the interest of Germany has been denied by letters from twelve leading citizens of Teutonic extraction in Louisville, Ky., to the Jefferson post of the American Legion in that city. The letters, together with a resolution condemning Viereck as an advocate of un-American principles, have been made public by the post. Louisville Legionnaires will hold an All-American meeting on Decoration Day, May 30.

When the fire department dashed down the main street and red flares burned brightly in the stillness of the night the solid citizens of Appleton, Wis., rushed out of their homes in alarm. What they discovered was that the local post of the American Legion was starting its membership campaign. Hands began to play and illuminated floats appeared. Boy scouts marched in a parade with the Legion members. The effect of the night attack was so strong that 600 members were obtained the next day.

A French "Medal Commemorative of the World War" awaits Americans and French citizens who went to France to serve with the horizon blues during the period of hostilities, according to a letter to National headquarters of the American Legion from Brigadier General L. Collardet, French military attaché at Washington. He requests that persons eligible for the decoration apply to the French Embassy at the national capital.

Rations Recommended For Sows And Litters

Four rations which have given good results in experiments are recommended by animal husbandry specialists at the College of Agriculture for the sow having a litter of pigs. The first is composed of one part of corn and three parts of skim milk, the second of nine parts of corn and one part of tankage and the third of equal parts of shipstuf and corn. Corn, shipstuf and ground oats in equal parts make up the fourth ration. A full feed for the sow having a litter of pigs is about four per cent of her live weight in feed each day.

A good ration for young pigs is composed of 40 pounds of corn, 60 pounds of shipstuf and ten pounds of tankage. A second one is composed of 30 pounds of corn, 30 pounds of shipstuf, 30 pounds of ground oats and 10 pounds of tankage.

pay. Come to this greatest of bargain sales and buy what you want at your own figures. Join with your neighbors in making up car lots to save freight rates. A vast number of cedar, white oak, chestnut and creosoted fence posts, water troughs and grain bins will interest every farmer. There are miles of woven wire hog-tight fencing. Warehouse Area At Camp Zachary Taylor

Splendidly constructed, built upon concrete foundations, having the Southern Railway tracks on one side and a rock asphalt road on the other, these thirty-one warehouses would make an ideal nucleus for a cooperative warehousing system for the marketing of tobacco, grain and other Kentucky farm products.
Built upon heavy foundations, which have been subjected to the carrying of enormous loads, the warehouses would serve admirably for the storage of tobacco, hides, wool and other commodities which the farmer sells today at a low price because of the swollen market. Here the farmer could store his products with the knowledge that he had access to a ready market at the proper season in the railroad facilities and roads leading into Louisville. A wonderful opportunity is presented here for the establishment of a local leaf tobacco market in Louisville with these warehouses purchased at a low price to form the base of a warehouse system, either on a co-operative plan or on a straight money-making proposition.
Stress has been laid on the fact that a great deal of tobacco now being grown in the outer edge of Jefferson County and the adjoining counties, including those in Southern Indiana, must be hauled long distances to reach a house leaf market, because no such market exists in Louisville, and the innumerable benefits to be gained by the farmer through the establishment of such a market here have been indicated.

Hope has been expressed that the recent meeting of the State Farm Bureau in Louisville may result in the development of a plan whereby these warehouses could be utilized for the services of the farmers, through their requirement by an organization of men interested in farming, and it is hoped that such an organization will be formed prior to the sale of the Cantonment, which begins on April 25.
The warehouses are 60x168 feet, having the Southern Railway tracks on one side and a rock asphalt road on the other, while, with the city conveniences and splendid roads leading to every part of Northern and Central Kentucky, the buildings would furnish a most suitable base for the planned cooperative system. They are now available and can be purchased from the government at prices that will be much less than the cost of erection would be today, and it is almost a certainty that the entire area will be purchased by some individual or organization that will convert them into useful channels of trade, rather than allow them to be wrecked and sold as salvaged lumber.

Protect The Mails.

Robbery of the United States mails is to become a little more hazardous than it has been in the past.
The postmaster general has instructed that men who handle valuable mail shall go armed and ready to perforate any bandit who appears. He also offers a reward of $5,000 to any mail man who brings in a robber.

Citizens of small towns and rural communities have not been so vitally interested in the reign of crime as are people in the large centers of population, where the bulk of the banditry flourishes. But when it comes to looting the mails the blow strikes home to every citizen, no matter how isolated his residence may be.

The only good robber is a dead one. We hope the mail men shoot often and straight.
The reward should be paid for a dead head as freely as for a live carcass.

If automobile thieves flourish much longer they will soon have to begin stealing the same cars over again.

Some FACTS About

Here are authentic figures from the Ford factory at Detroit. They show you just how many Ford cars and trucks have been built each month since January 1, 1921 and how many have been sold to retail customers, in the United States.

	Produced	Delivered to Retail Customers
JANUARY	29,883	57,208
FEBRUARY	35,305	63,603
MARCH	61,886	87,221
Total Production	127,074	Total Retail Sales 208,032

showing that actual sales for the first three months of 1921 exceeded production by 80,958 Ford cars and trucks!

April requisitions already specify 107,719 additional cars and trucks and the estimated April output of the factory and assembly plants combined calls for only 90,000!

These facts clearly show that the demand for Ford products is growing much faster than manufacturing facilities to produce and were it not for the dealers' limited stocks, which are now being rapidly depleted, many more customers would have been compelled to wait for their cars. It will be only a matter of weeks, therefore, until a big surplus of orders will prevent anything like prompt deliveries.

If you would be sure of having your Ford car or truck when you want it, you should place your order now. Don't delay. Phone us or drop us a card.

Literal Youngster.
Jack was being taught by his religious mother some things she thought he ought to know. Among other subjects God and His omnipresence were spoken of. It seemed hard to the boy to think God could be everywhere at once and especially disturbing to find out that He was dwelling inside him. The little fellow, however, took his mother at her word, and soon after at the supper table, as he was about to partake of some hot soup, said: "Look out, God, there's some hot soup coming."

FAMINE FUND WORK AT HALF-WAY MARK

Thomas W. Lamont, Chairman, Tells of Relief Administered
and Task to Be Completed.

The American Committee for China Famine Fund according to a statement issued by Thomas W. Lamont, chairman, has reached the second stage of its mission of mercy of sending funds from America to feed the millions of starving famine victims in the far eastern republic. At the lowest estimate, the statement says, just as much more is needed to carry "the last harvest" through to the June harvest as has already been sent.

Mr. Lamont points out that quick response by America to appeals made by President Harding and his predecessor, President Wilson, has resulted in such prompt distribution of relief that the threatened magnitude of the famine has been checked to a marked extent. A continuation of the efforts so far made, he is declared, will place the famine relief for China among America's most effective philanthropic work.

The Waiting Millions

There remain, however, the statement shows, a "last 5,000,000" to be saved, and these people can be saved only by continuous and voluminous relief resulting from American subscriptions.

The statement, in part, follows: "Quick response to the appeal of the American Committee for China Famine Fund gives us at the half-way point in our work the cheering assurance that the subscriptions from generous American already have served a great humanitarian purpose, for as relief already administered has held the famine in bounds and made it possible for America to save a multitude of human beings."

"Whereas early estimates made it seem that millions must perish, we now are advised that instead of the 5,000,000 who it was originally feared, were doomed to death from hunger relief at present in sight from all sources, American, Chinese and foreign, is sufficient to provide twenty rations until the June harvest for all except 5,000,000 people. These last 5,000,000 are destitute, according to our latest reports from the American Advisory Committee in Peking and are dependent for existence upon new help coming from outside sources, and this means America."

From All the People

"It is the earnest hope of the Committee that the number of contributions made as well as the aggregate will be such as to make our humanitarian gift, in a real sense, a gift of the American people as a whole."

"One way to make individual effort and generosity contribute toward saving China's starving population is for every one responsive to China's need, in effort, to 'pick a pal in China for a day.' The thought behind this special appeal in connection with the latter part of our effort will be for American men, women and children to choose, figuratively, a Chinese famine victim as a friend for a day and to send what they spend one day on themselves or an American friend to the China Famine Fund either through local committees, banks or churches or direct to Vernon Munroe, treasurer, Bible House, New York City."

"No American is so poor that he cannot save a life at the lowest rate ever quoted, one dollar a month. Life's quotations fluctuate, sometimes in one nation, sometimes in another, but the lower the quotation the greater the opportunity of humanity, the opportunity of human beings to save human life. China is far away—4,000 miles—but hunger is hunger, whether around the corner or beyond the Pacific."

"We appeal to America to make of the work already done in checking the China famine disaster by saving until harvest those already saved from death."

"CHINA WEEK" IS SUPREME EFFORT OF FUND WORKERS

As a practical and popular demonstration of the sympathy of the nation for a sister republic, a "China Famine Week," to be observed throughout the United States, has been set for the eight days from Sunday, May 1, to Sunday, May 8, inclusive.

In this week it is hoped that the churches and civic, commercial and professional bodies will take an active part. The success of this week will determine largely the amount of relief which can be sent through personal sacrifice to 5,000,000 starving people still dependent on outside aid.

Uncle Walt's Story

GAY OLD MEN

"SAM JAGWAA" was trying to be funny, this morning," related the horse doctor. "He saw some boys turning handspikes and undertook to show them how the trick used to be done in the halcyon days, and the doctor says he wrenched his back so he'll be laid for several days."

"Disasters of that sort usually happen to the graybeard who tries to demonstrate that he isn't any older than he was forty years ago," commented the village parson. "In a way, being tempted to do some old-time thing, and have to suppress such impulses with a mailed fist, it's all the outcome of vanity. A man tries to admit that he's a buck nigger. He wants to assure the plain people that, notwithstanding his gray whiskers and spring-faded legs, he's a four-horse team with a dog under the wagon, when it comes to athletic skill."

"I was in the ivory barn the other evening, when young Bretzinger began explaining that he had been taking boxing lessons from one of the old masters. He had learned all the tricks of the game and was just suffering agonies because there was no body present who would stand up and exchange scientific swats with him."

"In my younger days, if I do say it myself, I was a star performer in the ordinary knock-down-and-drag-out form of combat but I never was worth a lick in boxing. 'Bossy' knows that better than I do. Why then did I inform Bretzinger that I would be glad to spar a few rounds with him? It surely was vanity and nothing else. I had in mind that, while he might have plenty of the fancy stuff of hand, I might land one of my old-time boxmakers. In which case I felt sure the town would soon be ringing with the story of an old timer's prowess."

"So I took off my long jaw-winger coat, and my vest and stood up for battle. If anybody tells you and friends that Bretzinger doesn't know how to wield his hands, you may regard the story as a roach-bug. I never saw fistic so numerous as on that occasion. I couldn't see anything else for a while, and they landed on me in many unexpected places, and I don't remember a time when I was so embarrassed."

"Bretzinger explained afterward that he merely tapped me gently because I was a venerable man, old enough to be his grandfather. In that case I never want to become involved in an argument with him when he is in earnest. I had a black eye for a week after this recital, and my nose has never satisfied me since. Every time I come downtown, I had to explain to a thousand people that I blackened my eye while splitting kindling or that I dropped a sadiron on it. There is nothing more humiliating than a black eye, and I made up my mind that I'd try to realize my advanced age thereafter, and behave myself like a grave and reverent man."

"But no sooner had my eye recovered than I was in trouble again. I saw some young men wrestling, and paused to point out that they didn't know the rudiments of the game. I assured them that in my younger days I was a holy terror, and I didn't think that my hand had lost its cunning. It would afford me genuine happiness, I said, to show them how wrestling was done in the halcyon days of Mul-don and Whistler."

"So I removed my coat and vest and went into extensive session with a husky young man who had no respect for gray hairs. I am not sure about what followed, but I think he must have thrown me over his head. Anyhow, I made a great dent in the earth with my person, and I was so sore for two weeks that I had to take myself around in a wheelbarrow. Of course I am determined to make no more bad breaks of the kind, but I haven't much confidence in myself, and tomorrow you may see me climbing a tree half a mile high, to show some boys how to rob birds' nests."

The Compromise.

"Does your wife object to your playing golf?"
"No, we've made a compromise."

"That so?"
"Yes, she's perfectly willing to have me play the game, but she insists on my not talking about it after I get home."

33 ARTICLES

Made Up Appraised Estate Of President Lincoln's Grand- Father.

Recently the "appraisement" of the estate of Abraham Lincoln, the grandfather of President Lincoln, was unearthed in Hardtown. Said "appraisement" included thirty-three articles.

Below are given a few of the old-time articles. The order of the court reads:

"Pursuant to an order of court (Nelson county) appointing the subscribers (each man then personally signed his name to the appraisement) appraisers of the estate of Abraham Lincoln, deceased, being first sworn, proceeds as follows:

Article	Value
"Flax Wheel	6 shillings
"12 Pewter plates, 1 lb. 7 shillings
"2 pewter dishes	3 shillings
"Foot stools	6 shillings
"Handbesticks	2 shillings

"(Signed)
"Peter Schobert,
"Christopher Barlow,
"John Aheaney."

Appraisers.

At the above date Washington county did not exist. For in October 1781, Patrick Henry, Governor of Virginia, approved the act to establish the county of Nelson the fourth in the territory. Therefore at the death of Abraham Lincoln he was domiciled in the county of Nelson. Washington was brought into existence in 1792. (Being the first of the new counties organized when Kentucky was admitted as a State.) After 1792 the original Abraham Lincoln homestead stood in Washington county. It is also well known that in this original Abraham Lincoln homestead in Washington county, in 1806, that Thomas Lincoln lived at the date he was married to Nancy Hanks.

YOU don't use as much of Calumet as you do of most other Baking Powders. It has more than ordinary leavening strength. You save about half.

You don't pay a big price for Calumet. It's sold at a moderate price—that represents another saving.

You don't feel uncertain as to results. Baking never fails—because Calumet never fails below the proven standard of "Best by Test."

BEST BY TEST

It possesses the highest quality ever put into a Baking Powder. Contains only such ingredients as have been officially endorsed by United States Food Authorities.

For weeks, for months, it keeps as fresh and full of strength as the day it left the Calumet factories, the World's Largest, most Sanitary and Modern Baking Powder plants.

It is important that you use only straight wheat flour (not self-rising flour) and pure baking powder if you wish to obtain the golden demand by sound health.

Calumet Gold Cake Recipe

Yolks of 8 eggs, 1 1/2 cups of granulated sugar, 1/2 cup of water, 1/2 cup of butter, 2 1/2 cups pastry flour, 3 level teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder, 1 tablespoon of vanilla. The mix in the regular way.

Gentleness Always Best.

Gentleness is far more successful in all its enterprises than violence; indeed violence generally frustrates its own purpose, while gentleness scarcely ever fails.—Locke.

Wild Horses Roam No More.

Sometimes in the isolated mountain canyons of the West horses are found of running loose, but while these might be termed wild, they usually belong to some rancher who has let them run loose. Wild horses are frequent in various parts of Arizona and occasionally are found in Utah. But the old wild horse herds of the mountain plateau regions have gone, probably forever.

Spanish Lead as Wine Drinkers.

As a wine drinker the Spaniard sets the pace, with an average of 35 gallons a year, leading the Frenchman by four gallons and the Italian by eleven gallons.

Maple Is Much Used.

Makers of croquet sets use more maple than any other wood; but the mallet heads of fine sets may be lignum-vitae or teak; and the mallet handles may be of beech and birch as well as of maple, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. The balls wear out sooner than the other parts of the outfit. They gradually go to pieces by splitting, chips at a time.

HIGHEST PRICES FOR SWINE

Especially Advantageous to Southern Farmer to Study Use of Well-Balanced Hog Ration.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Information secured by the bureau of markets, United States Department of Agriculture, indicates that southern hogs will command prices as high as those paid for hogs from the corn belt if they are properly fed and handled. Nearly 6,000 hogs from a single owner in Mississippi have been received at the National stock yards, Illinois, within the past few months and all were firm, finished porkers, which sold well in line with the best that came from other sections of the country. A representative of the bureau of markets made some inquiries into the manner in which these hogs were fed. He discovered that the same owner has feeding pens in Iowa as well as in Mississippi, and that he bought his young pigs and fed them a mixed grain ration in connection with corn and tankage. All the animals showed intense feeding and weighed 250 pounds or over when they arrived at the market.

It would be especially advantageous to the southern farmer to study the use of the well-balanced grain ration and the complementary adaptation of peanuts and velvet beans which can be grown so abundantly in that section.

Twelve carloads of hogs were received from a single Tennessee owner at the same stockyards. These animals were of a distinctly southern type, such the bureau of markets' report.

A Good Pasture Is the First Thing to Provide for the Most Profitable Production of Pork.

sentative, but they were well finished on corn, and sold readily at the top of the market, despite the fact that they came from the so-called "doubtful territory." The owner received a check for $72,417, the largest ever paid to a patron of that market for a single shipment.

DOUBLE TREATMENT IS BEST

Serum May Be Satisfactory for Short Fattening Period—Immunity Is Not Permanent.

The serum treatment alone will not bring permanent immunity from hog cholera. It may be satisfactory for a short fattening period. But for the farm herd it is necessary to give the double treatment which consists of the virus and the serum. If it generally understood that a hog that has once recovered from a case of cholera is permanently immune. This immunity is the result of the formation in the body of the animal of antibodies which are antagonistic to the disease germs. For hogs that have been exposed to the disease or that may take it, it is necessary to use the virus which gives the animal the disease in a slight form. The serum which is then injected combats the disease germs and assists the body in resistance.

ISOLATE ALL SHOW ANIMALS

Stock on Exhibition at Fairs Should Be Segregated on Return to Farm to Avoid Disease.

It is an enjoyable, if not a profitable pastime, to the owner to exhibit his best animals at fairs and shows, but when they are returned to the farm, as well as others that may have been purchased, they should be segregated for a period that will insure their freedom from contagious diseases to which they may have been exposed.

VACCINATE FOR HOG CHOLERA

Double Treatment Can Successfully Be Used on Pigs When They Are Still Quite Young.

Pigs can be successfully vaccinated for hog cholera by the double treatment when from a few days to a few hours old, according to Dr. R. E. Nesbitt, president of the Illinois Veterinary Medical association. The cost is less, losses are smaller, and Dr. Nesbitt believes from his experience that immunity will last until the pigs are ready for market.

The Yale Spirit.

(Joseph Darden Armistead.)

Yale University is considered by many young men unacquainted with its true spirit to be a school where one without wealth would be out of place, that only wealthy students would be happy in its atmosphere. This is doing the university an injury and may be preventing some capable young man of ambition making any effort to come to Yale for his education.

As a matter of fact Yale is one of the most democratic universities in the land. It prides itself upon this very spirit. The ideal which it holds out seeks to lift every student out of any unworthy faintheartedness of self-depreciation which he may possess, and inspire him with a sense of the worth of true manhood, regardless of the accidental differences that may exist as to finances between himself and others.

Inasmuch as American conventionalism is tending to develop class distinctions based merely on money, the ideals of this great university are all the more outstanding in contrast and give grounds for faith in the continued triumph of the common sense of the masses of American citizens. Knowing as we do that the student body of Yale contains sons of some of the wealthiest families of America, as Vanderbilts, Rockefellers and Tafts, the following words of former president Timothy Dwight, of Yale, are of special interest, and are worth reading by many others than university students:

"We college men were a democratic community. The men of fifty years ago had this spirit (democratic), not because there were no hindrances in the way of its entrance into their lives, but because, as members of the Yale fraternity, they inherited from the fathers of the earlier days of the College history the great foundation principles of the true Yale life. Had the inspiration had no deeper source than that which was found in accidental or temporary surrounding circumstances, it would have been worthless as a moving force for noble living.

"The same thing is true today. It will be so always. If the democratic spirit animating our university is now, or ever becomes in the future, so weak and unmanly that it cannot endure inequalities in resources or expenditures—in the means of satisfying the desire for special comforts or even luxuries, or gratifying the artistic taste—it will be unworthy of its origin, it will have contradicted its earlier self. The old spirit was one that estimated men according to their manhood, and not according to their surrounding possessions. It believed in the superiority of man to his accident. But it did not demand that the possessions or accidental things of all in the community should be exactly the same. It was a manly and not a pusillanimous spirit.—I have no apprehensions as to its losing its vital force or passing away, if the men of the present and the coming time will recognize for and in themselves the essence of its life-power, and not mistake it for what it is not."

The spirit of Yale today is one of genuineness and true democracy. It is true to the ideals of the past; and if it could be it is more so, as is seen in the selection of a western man to become its next president.

My observation leads me to sum up Yale ideals as the spirit of democracy, service, manhood and thorough scholarship.

Farm And Home News From Over Kentucky

Farm women in the vicinity of Parksville, Boyle county, have organized themselves into a home demonstration club in co-operation with Mrs. Jennie C. Grubbs, home demonstration agent in that county.

J. W. Baker, a Clay county farmer, is planning to follow up-to-date methods of fruit production, according to a report of County Agent L. L. Clark. Mr. Baker has already laid out the orchard with the help of Mr. Clark and will plant 100 trees of choice variety.

Four farmers of Boyd county are co-operating with County Agent L. M. Amburgey in conducting demonstrations on different projects. J. M. Ross will conduct a demonstration in alfalfa growing, Rush Canfield will use sweet clover and John F. Hubbard will use sudan grass as his project. A. C. McDaniel will conduct a demonstration on pruning and spraying in his orchard which has been neglected until the present time.

Ten registered Shorthorn calves and eight Hereford ones were recently distributed by County Agent Leland Bunch to the beef calf club members in that county. A local bank financed the purchase of the calves which were bought in Caldwell and Union counties for an average of $125 apiece.

Where One Gallon Equals Two

Quality does tell! Measured by covering capacity and length of wear, one gallon of Hanna's Green Seal Paint proves itself equal to two gallons of so-called "cheap" paint. And there's a reason: viz., no paint can be better than the ingredients that go into it.

HANNA'S GREEN SEAL PAINT

contains only highest grade ingredients, universally recognized as necessary in making good paint. If a paint is sold at a ridiculously low price it simply means that it is lacking in these necessary ingredients and contains cheap adulterants.

W. H. Newell, a Mason county farmer, has reported a large production to county agent George Kirk from two of the Holstein cows in his herd as a result of his first attempt to keep a record on his cows. Pauline St. Pontiac, a 26-month old heifer, produced 293 pounds of milk and 13 pounds of butter in seven days while another cow produced 548 pounds of milk and 23 pounds of butter fat in the same number of days.

Resolutions By Mt.

Tabor Sunday School

Whereas our Blessed Master has been pleased to call from us to that Eternal Home above, our sister and co-worker, Miss Mary Todd, who died at Berea Hospital after two days illness, be it.

Resolved, That our church and Sunday School has lost one of its most true and faithful members, the community at large, one of its sweetest christian characters, who was ever ready to help the poor and needy; the orphans and bereaved widows and we point to her christian spirit with pride, because she did not do, to be seen of the world, or to make an outward show, but was prompted by a Christ like spirit, that was found and laid in her noble heart. Be it therefore, further

Resolved, That we extend to the family and heart-felt sympathy, and point them to the one Who doeth all things well and Who alone can comfort, for He too was a man of sorrow and acquainted with grief.

Resolved, That a copy of these Resolutions be sent to the family, a copy to the Central Record, and a copy spread upon the Record Book of our School.

Finny Tribe in Cold Weather.

All fish do not hibernate during the winter. Some species find homes in holes or beneath rocks and roots and get along very well without food during the cold weather, but they are not torpid like the bears and groundhogs that hibernate. Most of the fish swim about in the cold water and gather a living in winter just as they do in summer, but none of them requires so much food when the water is cold.

NEAT SLIP-ON SWEATER

Interest still centers on sweaters and sweater coats—for everybody wears them. These garments of wool or silk are closely or loosely knitted—according to the degree of warmth required of them. The on and slip-on models that set snugly to the figure rival the smart loose-hanging sweater-coats and everything appears to be provided with a knitted girdle or sash. The pretty model pictured reveals the trend toward neat effects.

LANCASTER HIGH Meets First Defeat.

The L. H. S. Base Ball team went down in defeat to the Madison High on the local diamond last Friday afternoon by the score of 4 to 0.

The local lads put a good strong fight and didn't give up until the last man was out in the ninth inning, which was by far the best game played here this season, the local boys could have easily taken the Visitors into camp had they not made the many errors that they pulled, not a single earned run was made.

The all around playing of Henry for the L. H. S. was the outstanding feature of the game.

The runs made in the 3rd and 6th. Inning when costly errors as stated above allowed the Visitors to reach home plate.

The High School boys have a dandy good team and although this is their first defeat of the season, they are working hard in order that they may take the scalp from Nicholasville High today and Thelkeld Select tomorrow.

The following was the line up of both teams for last Friday's game:

Bird Sanctuaries in Canada.

Bird sanctuaries are being created in suitable places throughout Canada to protect the breeding grounds of water-fowl and other important bird localities. The protection of water-fowl in the great plains is most important. The water-fowl need the protection because of the increase in agriculture and the drainage of many of their former nesting areas.

Insects That Daffy Winter.

In the dead wood of old stags are many insects that live through the winter regardless of how cold it gets; creatures whose weak bodies seem to defy the frigid temperature.
